Them Ole Parkin' Lot Blues

by Andrea Long

With the start of a new school year at Red River Community College comes the annual problem of parking. In a nutshell — just where can I leave my car without it being towed away?

Red River has designated parking lots for students. Three of these are on the north side of the campus and three are on the west. Two of the west and one of the north are parking lots with power. All parking is on a scramble basis.

Permits are available from the Bookstore. They are sold on a daily, monthly or permanent basis. Students in a 10 month course can purchase the permanent permits.

The cost of the permits is: with power — $7.00 per month and without power — $4.00 per month.

There are also parking spots available for disabled or handicapped students. These students must submit medical certification along with their application so their needs can be properly met.

After paying for a parking spot, you receive a permit to stick on the front dash, driver's side, of the vehicle you are driving. The permits are transferable for car pools, etc.

This year the parking spots were pre-sold by mail. Half of the 871 powered spots have already been taken. There are 842 spots without power.

Solving the Bus Puzzle

by Andrea Long

Many of Red River's students are forced to hop onto the orange and yellow chauffeur-driven limos run by the City of Winnipeg each day. Yes, I am talking about Transit Tom.

Over the past summer, the city, in its infinite wisdom, has seen fit to change the transit system by adding numbers along with some new names for the various bus routes in Winnipeg. There are four bus routes that come into the college grounds. All the buses can be caught outside Building D on the south side of the college.

The Notre Dame-Logan route has really changed since last school year. In non-rush hour, the buses are called Notre Dame or Logan-Red River College. They leave from Portage and Garry about every 20 minutes and follow a route down Notre Dame or Logan to the college. Leaving Red River, they are marked Notre Dame or Logan-

Downtown and run about 20 minutes apart. The number on all these buses is No. 27. In rush hour, the buses are call Dublin-Red River College or Dublin-Downtown depending whether you're coming or going from the college. The number on these is No. 28 and they leave about every 12 minutes.

The Grant-Red River College can be caught at Polo Park. Numbered 66, it leaves every 20 minutes during rush hours and every 30 in non-rush times. Leaving the college, it is marked as Grant-Downtown or Grant-Polo Park and returns to Polo Park via St. James Street.

The Leila No. 73 arrives and leaves Red River about every 20 minutes in rush hour and every 30 minutes the rest of the day. Its route ends up at north Main and it runs past Garden City Shopping Center.

All the buses stop running between 9:30 and 10:00 p.m. Bus schedules can be seen in the Learning Resource Centre and the Students Association office.

EDITORIALS

Long's Editorial

by Andrea Long

Me impressing the maintenance staff.

Welcome to Red River, or welcome back if you're starting your second year.

My name is Andrea Long and I'm the editor-in-chief of Red River's student newspaper, The Projector.

The main purpose of The Projector, as I see it, is not to turn a profit since it is distributed free to the students, but rather to entertain and inform. These are the goals I'm setting for the 1984-85 year.

In the past, participation on the paper was confined to the students in the Creative Communications course. This makes sense as journalism is one of the course's main areas of study.

However, I feel that since The Projector is a paper for the whole college, students from a variety of courses should play a part in its production. I should mention here that all contributions printed in The Projector will be paid for according to their size. By contributions, I mean any creative efforts such as articles, cartoons, poetry, short stories.

If you would like to offer an opinion on what you you wish to see printed in the paper, feel free. Just inside the reception area of the Student Association office there is a mail folder where notes for the paper can be left.

Perhaps the standards of The Projector have been lowered in the past, but as editor, it is my job to see we put out the best paper we can. With your help I will be able to do it.

Have a great year.
